

Dr. Tony Minor is the Senior Pastor of the Community of Faith Assembly in Cleveland, Ohio and serves on the Council of Bishops for Higher Ground Assembly based out of Columbus, Ohio. Dr. Minor is a graduate of Morehouse College with a B.A. in English. He continued his education at the Interdenominational Theological Center, where he received a Master of Divinity in Christian Ethics and Public Policy as a Benjamin Elijah Mays Fellowship Scholar. Dr. Minor earned the Doctor of Ministry (D.Min) degree from the United Theological Seminary as a Martin Luther King Scholar under the direction of Dr. Wyatt Tee Walker, the former Senior Pastor of the historic Canaan Baptist Church in Harlem and former Chief of Staff for Dr. Martin Luther King's South Christian Leadership Conference. He is a strong voice for social justice and is a former aide to Ambassador Andrew Young and Dr. Joseph Lowery, two former associates of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. The New York Times and USA Today cited him for his work in voter empowerment and election protection through People for the American Way. He has a diverse background and expertise in managing programs that target low-income individuals in the Greater Cleveland area and has held top administrative positions serving in public housing, HIV/AIDS awareness, and fatherhood. He currently serves as the Advocacy Director at the Lutheran Metropolitan Ministry, one of the largest social service agencies in Greater Cleveland, where he has become a leader in environmental justice and leading congregations to address health disparities. He currently serves on several boards including Metro Health Hospital, United Way of Greater Cleveland, Greater Cleveland Urban League, Cleveland Treatment Center, and Nueva Luz, Inc. He is married to Natoya Walker, a Cleveland native who is the Chief of Public Affairs for Mayor Frank Jackson. They have two sons, Scott, age 8, and Tommy, age 20, who is a student at Morehouse College.
